She lectures widely and writes occasionally.

She is a member of GANLondon and of the Older Therapists Women Group.

Ronnie Levine, Ph.D, ABPP, a clinical psychologist, psychoanalyst and group analyst, practices in New York. She is on the faculties of several group therapy training programs in the USA. In addition, she conducts private training groups in Austin, Texas; Boston, Massachusetts; and San Francisco, California. Dr. Levine has conducted many workshops and institutes for AGPA and has been the featured keynote conference speaker for a number of local group societies within the USA. She has also conducted many international workshops in Europe and Israel. Dr. Levine has published several articles on the group experience in the International Journal of Group Psychotherapy. In 2004, Dr. Levine was awarded Fellow of AGPA and was honored to be the Lou Ormont Lecturer at the AGPA conference in 2009. In June 2011, the Eastern Group Psychotherapy Society honored Dr. Levine for her outstanding contributions to the field of group psychotherapy

Bojana Mitrovic is a psychologist and group analyst. She works in private practice as a psychotherapist, as well as a part time job for a research company (audience measurement). She is currently Honorary Secretary of the Group Analytic Society Belgrade and lives and works in Belgrade.

Mia Henriksen is a clinical psychologist. Prior to obtaining her psychology degree she was a professional basketball player, both in the USA and the UK and during this time she also completed an MSc in sport psychology. Mia has previous experience of working with drug addiction and health psychology (cardiac patients) and is now working at Akershus University Hospital in Oslo at an outpatient clinic that offers both combined and concurrent group- and individual treatment to people with personality disorders. she is currently training as a group analyst in Oslo.

Dr Surya Nayak is a Senior Lecturer in Social Work at the University of Salford UK, as a psychoanalytic therapist and supervisor and is in training with Group Analysis North - Institute of Group Analysis. As an anti-colonial, feminist activist Surya, principles of collective and group working are the foundations of her psycho-social activism for social justice. For the past four decades Surya has worked nationally and internationally to end violence against women and girls and for the liberation of asylum seekers and refugees. Within the Rape Crisis Movement Surya has set up services and spaces dedicated to Black and Asian women. Surya applies models of education as liberation based on the activism of Black feminism to raise consciousness about the psychological and political impact of oppressive social constructions. She has published extensively about social work, intersectionality and activism. Surya is currently training as a group analyst in Manchester.
